The selection of PAs must be done prior to card and room picks.

SECTION 2. PA ALLEY AND ROOM ASSIGNMENT

The selected PAs will participate in the card pick process as normal members of the house.

During room picks, each PA will pick in the order determined by their (or their roommate's) card selection. To the discretion of the Secretary, PAs will be dispersed about the house as equally as possible - ideally one PA in each alley.

Each incoming class of PAs (which will include up to four members) will be guaranteed rooms in the house, and the remaining upperclassmen PAs will be guaranteed rooms based on their card selections, up to eight total PAs with guaranteed rooms. If there is only one non-freshman room left in an alley and that alley does not yet have a PA, the remaining room will be reserved for a PA.

ARTICLE VIII – ELECTIONS & PROCEDURES

SECTION 1. NOMINATIONS

Nominations for all major and minor offices shall open exactly a week preceding the date of second term House meeting, and shall remain open until actual voting at the House meeting. The Secretary shall post notice immediately preceding the opening of these nominations. For a nomination to be valid, the nominee(s) must have full membership.

SECTION 4. DISCUSSION PERIOD

Preceding every vote for major or minor office, a final call for nominations will be given.

When there are no further nominations, the candidates for the office will be dismissed until all ballots are tallied. For the elections of President and Athletics Manager, each candidate will be given an opportunity to speak before they are dismissed.

When all candidates have left the election hall, a discussion section will begin. If a call-to-vote has not passed by the end of 30 minutes from the time the discussion begins, then the discussion section will end immediately and voting will take place.

The discussion will be moderated by The President. House members will have the opportunity to voice their opinions on the candidates, with the expectation that no details about the discussion will ever be shared by anyone after the vote takes place.

SECTION 5. VOTING

All members may cast one vote for each office. In the first election, a correctly cast vote for the election of an officer shall be one of the following.

- A vote for a nominee;
- Writing the name of any other legally qualified person;
- Writing the word “no”.

SECTION 6. RUNOFFS

In order to be elected in the initial election, a candidate must receive an absolute majority of all correctly cast non-“no” votes. If, in any election, no candidate receives more than the number of “no” votes, then there shall be a vacancy in that office. A final election shall be held if no candidate is elected in the initial election. At least the two candidates with the first and second largest number of votes in the first election will become candidates in the final election. The single candidate receiving the third largest number of votes in the initial elections shall be a candidate in the final election only if he or she receives at least 80% as many votes in the initial election as the second place candidate. If two or more candidates tie for third place in the initial elections, they shall not be candidates in the final election. Write-in candidates and “no” votes are not permitted in any elections following the initial one.

- In the case of absentee ballots, votes presented from these shall be applicable in runoff elections if the candidate indicated has not been eliminated.

SECTION 7. FINAL ELECTION

The voting procedure in the final election is as follows:

- A voter writes the name of the preferred candidate.
- If a candidate has a majority of votes, that candidate wins.
- In the event of a tie in the final election, the candidate in the tie who received the most votes in the first election is the winner.

SECTION 8. ELECTION CHAIRMAN

The Election Chairman shall be the Review Committee Representative and must release the results of each ballot to the President immediately after the results are compiled. All protests must be given in writing either to the President, or the Election Chairman. If no protests are received prior to the noon two days after an election, the report of the Election Committee will be considered valid. If the Review Committee Representative is running for a house position, the Election Chairman is a special officer appointed by the President, with the approval of the Executive Committee, expressly for the duties mentioned above. The Election Committee shall consist of two other persons selected by the President with the approval of the Executive Committee to aid the Election Chairman in the execution of these duties, which includes dispensing and counting ballots. These persons may not be candidates for major office.

SECTION 9. PROTESTS

Upon receipt of a valid protest, all scheduled run-off elections must be postponed for one week, pending resolution of the difficulty. The incumbent Executive Committee shall have the sole power to consider the validity of protests and to reschedule invalidated elections.

SECTION 10. INSTALLATION

All officers shall be installed as results become known. All previous officers shall retire immediately upon the installation of their respective successors. The new officers shall satisfy all qualifications and perform all duties as specified in Articles III and IV.

ARTICLE IX – INITIATIVE & REFERENDUM

SECTION 1. PETITION

Upon presentation to the Executive Committee by any member of the House of a petition bearing the signatures of twenty percent of the member of the House requesting certain legislation upon any matter within the authority of the Executive Committee, the Executive Committee shall pass such legislation or, if not, shall submit the same to vote by secret ballot of the house within fifteen days from the date of presentation of such petition. The petition must be signed not more than fifteen days before it is submitted to the Executive Committee.

SECTION 2. REFERENDUM

The Executive Committee, upon fifteen days notice, may submit any proposed legislation to a secret ballot of the house.

SECTION 3. VOTING

Legislation resulting from any of the procedures outlined above may be brought to a vote of the House at a house meeting as specified in Article II. Unless otherwise provided in these bylaws, a majority of votes cast shall suffice to pass acts of legislation not relating to the expenditure of funds. A two-thirds majority of votes cast shall be necessary to adopt or repeal an act of legislation relating to the expenditure of funds.

ARTICLE X – RECALL

SECTION 1. INITIATING A RECALL

Upon presentation of a petition for recall of any elected officer, bearing the signatures of twenty percent of those eligible to vote for the office, a special election shall be held. Signatures will be valid only if the petition was signed not more than seven days before it was submitted to the Executive Committee.

SECTION 2. VOTING

On the question of whether or not the officer shall be recalled, an affirmative vote from two-thirds of the voters shall suffice to remove him or her from office; otherwise he or she shall continue.

SECTION 3. SUCCESSOR

Nominations for the election of a successor, in the event of a successful recall, will open and close, and the recall election will be held, in accordance with the provisions of Article VII, except that the officer who was recalled may not be a nominee and nominations will open the Wednesday immediately following the removal of the elected officer. The successor will take office immediately upon election.

ARTICLE XI – ROOM PICKS

SECTION 1. SECRETARY’S ROLE

The Secretary of Page House shall be responsible for its room picks, and shall be the final arbiter of all disputes regarding room picks. He or she shall be responsible for any and all facets of the room selection process, including the running of any meeting regarding room picks, liaison with the Housing Office or the MOSH, or the resolution of any questions regarding singles. The Secretary is responsible for keeping all records pertaining to the living arrangements in the house, including room lists, singles lists, phone lists, etc.

SECTION 2. CARD PICKS

At times and places to be determined by the Secretary, each member of the house who wishes to live on campus will pick two cards. One will determine the member’s ranking in the doubles pick list, while the second will determine the member's ranking in the singles list. No member shall be allowed to change roommates after his/her cards have been drawn. When the appointed time period for drawing cards has expired, the Secretary must make public the ordered lists. No member will be allowed to draw cards until they have declared a roommate, with the exception of the President. Another exception is for a situation in which there are members who wish to pick but cannot find a roommate—they will automatically be placed at the bottom of doubles and singles card order, regardless of their card drawn. If there are two members in this situation and a mixed-gender room assignment is not an agreeable compromise, then they will both pick last in an order dictated by their relative card picks.

For any member which picks alone and receives a single, they—with the exception of the president—will still be subject to the singles selection process. The single will be offered to everyone in the order established by the singles list, and their assignment may be subject to change upon the start of the following term.

SECTION 3. CARD ORDER

The card picks shall be ordered in the normal manner (i.e. aces high). If two cards are numerically the same, then the high card order shall be spades, hearts, diamonds, clubs. If two people pick identical cards, then there will be a draw between the two people to determine which person is higher. All seniors that draw shall be higher than all juniors that draw, and juniors are above sophomores. In other words, the best sophomore pick is still lower than the worst junior pick. If an out-of-Page member who was not kicked off the previous year decides to move back on campus in the year following room picks, he or she will automatically go to the bottom of his or her class on both lists. However, if such an individual moves back on campus before room picks, he or she will only go to the bottom of his or her class on the doubles list.

SECTION 4. BONUSSES

Certain officers of Page House are entitled to bonuses on their singles or doubles picks.

Those bonuses are as follows:

OFFICE	DOUBLES BONUS	SINGLES BONUS
President	top of list	top of list
Vice President	top of class	top of class
Secretary	top of class	top of class
Treasurer	top of class	top of class
Athletic Manager	top of class	top of class
Social Team	+3 spots
Athletic Team	+3
Work Wyoance		+3 spots
ASCIT Review Committee, BOC, CRC and ARC Reps		+3

Librarian		+3
Historian		+3
Damage Rep		+3
Food Rep		+3
House Tool		+3
Kiddie Pool Friend		+3
Orange Watch Coordinator		+3

Bonuses for the Executive Committee become effective at the room picks after elections.

Social team and ath team double bonuses become effective at the room picks before their term has been served. Singles bonuses apply for the year following elections. The only officer bonus that becomes effective immediately is the President's single bonus. Immediately upon his or her election, the President goes to the top of the singles list. None of these bonuses may be applied to obtaining an out-of-Page room. Bonuses are not cumulative. That is, if a person is a member of the social team and the athletic team, he or she does not receive a +6 doubles pick. However, if a person is a member of the social team and is also historian, they do receive both bonuses, as one pertains to a doubles pick and the other to a singles pick. For room pick purposes, if there is more than one officer in any one class, the order shall go as follows: President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Athletic Manager.

SECTION 5. PICKING ROOMS

At the room pick meeting, the Secretary will call for each member to make his or her room selection, in the order dictated by the doubles list. The suggested time limit for each person to make their room selection is five minutes, although certain factors might lengthen the time limit. After a person has selected a room, the Secretary simply call the next person on the ordered doubles list. When roommates are picking a room, they simply use the highest pick between the two of them.

SECTION 6. ROOMMATES

At the beginning of every school year, each member living in Page House will have a roommate, with the exception of the President. Roommates must live together for at least one term, or until one or both of the roommates obtains a single, moves out-of-Page, or leaves the House or the Institute. As with all concerns regarding Page House room picks, it will be the Secretary's job to deal in good faith with all members of the House.

SECTION 7. SINGLES

The singles list will be utilized when a member moves out-of-Page, or whenever a space becomes available in an on campus alley. There is a set of rules that the Secretary must follow whenever a space or spaces become available.

- All available rooms must be offered to every member, in the order established by the singles list. If the member has chosen to live off-campus, they will be removed from the order of the singles list. Students studying abroad maintain their order in the singles list.
- If one of two roommates decides to take a single, the person taking the single has to move. If the person not taking a single is agreeable to moving, however, the person taking a single could conceivably keep his or her room as a single, while his or her roommate moves. However, if no such agreement can be reached, the person taking the single room will have to move.
- The one exception to the above rule is that neither corner double may be taken as a single.
- Once a person has taken a single, their name is scratched off of the singles list for the remainder of the school year, and they may not pick another single. However, in passing up a particular room as a single, a person does not relinquish his or her rights to pick a later single that might become available.
- Singles can be taken away in the reverse of the order dictated by the singles list if a member of the house wishes to move on campus.
- Talking and dealing between the various members involved in taking and relinquishing singles is certainly encouraged. The Secretary shall assist in these negotiations and shall oversee the entire process by proposing solutions starting at the time that the new single becomes available. It is the Secretary's job to make sure that an equitable living arrangement is produced as a result of these dealings. As long as the above three rules are followed, and the Secretary and parties involved deal in good faith, any other living arrangement that can be reached is acceptable.
- All members must be moved within one week of the time that a new single becomes available. If no agreement can be reached by the members themselves, the Secretary shall suggest a reasonable arrangement and moving shall commence so as to be completed by the one-week time limit.

SECTION 8. INVOLUNTARY MOVES

- The bottom picks from the sophomore and junior classes will have to move out-of-Page in equal proportion to their on campus numbers to satisfy the guarantee that all freshmen have housing their first year.
- One is considered to be forced or involuntarily moved out-of-Page if one is denied a room in the house during room picks and if one does not move into the house by the end of the fifth week of first term.
- If a person is involuntarily moved out-of-Page, and if they wish to move back on campus, they do not go to the bottom of their class in the doubles rankings. They pick normally, with whatever bonuses they might have.
- In any case, no person may be involuntarily moved out-of-Page more than once.

Guarantees: The following officers shall not be forced out-of-Page unless necessary: members of the Executive Committee, three members from the Social Team, the Page House Board of Control Representatives, the Page House Conduct Review Committee Representative, the Health Advocate with the highest card pick, and the Page House

Academic Review Committee Representative. These members are said to have been given a “guarantee”. If the Health Advocate is already guaranteed on-campus, then there will be no guaranteed spots for the other Health Advocates.

Necessary non-guaranteed rooms: A minimum of four rooms- split evenly between the rising sophomore and junior classes- must not be filled by members with guarantees from one of the above positions. If, in fulfilling the above guarantee requirements, there are fewer than four rooms left to members without any guarantees, guarantees will be removed from the positions in the following order: ARC Rep, CRC Rep, BoC Reps. This is at the discretion of the Secretary.

SECTION 9. LOSERS

Any member who refuses to abide by the rules for room picks and room changes as set forth in this Article shall lose his or her right to participate in room picks for the following year. This action shall be confirmed by the Executive Committee, and may only be rescinded by a valid petition for an initiative.

SECTION 10. SUMMER ROOM PICKS

All members who wish to live in Page over the summer must pick two cards, as outlined in Section 2, to determine summer doubles and summer singles ranking. Card order is determined the same way as in fall picks, outlined in Section 3. No bonuses apply. Roommate pairs need not be determined at this time, but must be set before the summer room picks meeting. Every person must have a roommate to pick a summer room, with the exception of the male with the highest singles rank, if there are an odd number of male members seeking summer housing, or the female with the highest singles rank, if there are an odd number of female members seeking summer housing. Room picks proceed as follows:

1. All members currently living in Page are offered the choice of keeping their current room. If two people are currently living in the same room, but are not rooming together over the summer, the one with the higher doubles pick has priority.
2. All members who have a fall assignment in Page for the following year have the option of taking their fall room, if it is still available. If two people are living in the same room the following fall, but are not rooming together over the summer, the one with the higher doubles pick has priority.
3. The remaining rooms will be selected as in Section 5. Rooms will be chosen according to summer doubles rank, selected from rooms that have not already been claimed.

Additional rules:

- No member may have a corner double as a single

- If rooms are to be designated as storage rooms, the Secretary must make the designation before summer picks, taking care to choose rooms that are most convenient for the House overall

The Secretary may be allowed to give out additional singles, if housing allows it, and there is no reasonable alternative
